To Our Valued Partners,

Notice on Acquisition of all Shares of EFE Corporation

We are pleased to announce that NanoSystem Solutions, Inc. has acquired all shares of EFE Corporation(1-15-2 Ochiai Tama-city Tokyo, JAPAN, President and CEO: Kauyuki Hiramoto) and made it a wholly owned subsidiary as of 23rd MAY, 2022.

EFE Corporation's main business is the delivery and installation of our products, as well as maintenance and servicing, and have established a head office and two maintenance bases in Japan. In addition, we provide technology that can contribute to various fields by utilizing their know-how cultivated in semiconductor-related equipment.

We believe teaming up with EFE Corporation will further expand our semiconductor manufacturing equipment-related business, and we intend to utilize the strengths of EFE Corporation, not only to provide enhanced maintenance services, but also to accelerate collaboration in the development of inspection technology to respond to various inquiries and to create a system that will enable us to provide better support to our customers in a timely manner.

We are confident that this grouping will enable us to meet the expectations and trust of our customers by further stabilizing our financial and management base through joint business operations as the V-Technology Group, Inc.

We appreciate your business and support, and look forward to continued and prosperous achievements with you.

Sincerely,

Hitoshi Inazumi, President

Kazumi Haga, Director & CTO
